Saturday Night

Weymouth is a traditional sea side town with a massive amount of places to eat, especially if you fancy fish and chips. As well as a huge sandy beach there is a cinema and bowling alley in the town centre. Most of the best chips shops are based around the harbour and there are a number of restaurants and take aways on the main seafront. The below should give you a good starting point although if you are after something specific please give me a shout and I'll point you in the right direction.
